D. A. Beckwith, of the Socorro Miner, went south yesterday on his way home from the East. He takes back with him the plate of a new map fully setting forth the advantages of that flourishing little garden city. He will use this in preparing a guide to Central New Mexico, that will certainly give Socorro a big boom.

David Thornton, of Chicago, who came to the Las Vegas Hot Springs in May, and after remaining a month went to Manitou where he died was buried in Chicago on Thursday. About two years ago he was stricken down with catarrh of the stomach that developed into consumption, and he was a great sufferer. He was a prominent local politician and left a sad little fortune.

Capt. J. C. Lea, of Roswell, in the Pecos Valley, yesterday sent us up a specimen of corn stalk grown on his farm in that fine agricultural section. We have quite a collection of specimens of agricultural products sent up by Capt. Lea, and they have done much toward advertising the natural advantages of the Pecos Valley. This corn stalk is a monster and resembles a young saw log.

A dispatch from San Antonio, Texas, states that a Del Rio correspondent with the Mexican expedition under Colonels Garcia, Winkler and Santos, says the party has returned, having made a treaty with 400 Comanches and 150 Lipans are to come to New Mexico, and 200 Mesquero Apaches to the City of Mexico. This embraces all Indians in the Burro and Santa Rosa Mountains excepting a band of 150. The surrendered Indians had a large number of United States mules, captured from the Government in New Mexico.

A man who arrived yesterday from the Pecos reports everything as looking finely. He traveled to this city by wagon from Austin, Texas, crossing the river below where the Texas & Pacific Railway will cross. He reports the region about Roswell as the finest section of country through which he passed. The country from ten or fifteen miles this side of Roswell to Seven Rivers he considers cannot be equalled in Texas. Everywhere along the river, from a point twenty miles on the other side of the Texas line the grass is of the finest kind. He is prepared to believe anything he hears about the production of the fertile Pecos Valley.

OUR RAILROAD.

Advantages of Building a Railroad to Trinidad and Continuing it into New Mexico.

Hopeful Signs.

We glean the following from several exchanges relative to the construction of another railroad to Trinidad and continuing it into New Mexico. If a road is built to Trinidad it will certainly be extended across the Colorado line, and whether its direction in this Territory will be east, west or south, it will augur good fortune to Las Vegas, for some company is certain to avail itself of the route along the foothills to Las Vegas through the fertile valleys and in easy access to the rich mineral and grazing districts.

LONG'S CANYON ROUTE.

According to the Trinidad papers, no less than four railroads think of entering New Mexico by this pass through the Raton Mountains, which form a barrier along its northern boundary. The Sangre de Cristo or Cimarron range of mountains run north and south, flanked on the east by sandstone foothills rich in coal, and to the east of the foothills are the vast plains of grazing land. The Raton mountains are a spur of this range, putting off at right angles to it for 150 miles. The pass used by the old Santa Fe trail over these mountains, known as the Raton pass, is now occupied by the A. T. & S. F. railroad, their tunnel through the summit being partly in Colorado and partly in New Mexico. A few miles west of the Raton pass is another, known as Chicken creek, and still further west and nearer to the Sangre de Cristo range is the Long's canyon pass. This route was surveyed many years ago by engineer W. R. Morley, and the grades were found to be better than over the Raton pass. It also traverses through the sandstone foothills, a better country than the Raton pass route, which soon reaches the plains. The Long's canyon route, with better grades, cuts through what is the finest body of timber in New Mexico, located at the head of Red river, and also takes the centre of the great coal basin of the Raton mountains on the Vermejo and its tributaries. It is said there are veins of coal exposed on the Vermejo 20 feet in thickness. When the line of the A. T. & S. F. was located through Raton pass there was little time for close investigation of different routes. In the race between it and the D. & R. G., the A. T. & S. F., or the K. P., now reported to be looking at it, shall utilize it or not, it is certain that not many years will pass before Long's canyon will resound with the shriek of the locomotive. —Cimarron News and Press.

DENVER & NEW ORLEANS R. R.

While in Denver the editor of the News interviewed ex-Gov. Evans on the subject of the above enterprise, and found him decidedly friendly to Trinidad. He declared emphatically that if it should prove impracticable to build the road to this city that the company would see to it that the road should be of decided benefit to Trinidad, and if an arrangement could not be made with the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe that would give us facilities equal to direct broad gauge communication to the north and south they would put in a branch. He further stated that the road would not cross the main line of the A. T. & S. F. at La Junta, as at first proposed, but would go direct from Denver to Pueblo, or cross the Arkansas at some point not to exceed fifteen miles east of Pueblo, and that the indications now were that it would run not to exceed fifteen miles east of Trinidad. He further said that the steel and cars to build and equip the line from Denver to the crossing of this branch of the A. T. & S. F. was bought and had been shipped, and contracts let giving the company the right to choose between three surveys. He expressed himself as desirous to co-operate with our people, and will entertain any suggestions they may have to make. In view of these facts it is well worth the while of our people to talk the matter up and secure all the benefits possible by the construction of the road. —Trinidad News.

TRINIDAD'S AWAKENING.

The following items are clipped from the Trinidad Times:

Most of the finest timber in this section for lumber and railroad lies in the adjacent to the pass at the head of Long's canyon, easily accessible to a railroad running up the canyon and down into New Mexico. Which will be first to utilize this pass, the Denver & New Orleans road, or the Denver & Rio Grande road?

It is now rumored in Denver that the Denver & New Orleans railroad is coming direct to Trinidad. Is there any connection between the rumor and the recent visit of D. & N. O. officials to Long's canyon, in this vicinity? We think so, and would advise the Board of Trade to act promptly in making an effort to secure this road.

Will the assessment be placed at 5 percent this year, and scarce off the Denver & New Orleans road, just as it is scared off the round house and machine shops of the A. T. & S. F.?

Two Road Agents Killed.

It is reported that two road agents were killed on the Jornada a few days ago. A Japanese or Chinaman, who has been residing in Grafton in the Black Range, started with a team for Arizona. He had not gone far when he was overtaken by fellows who "held him up" for his horses and wagon and what money he had about him. The poor fellow begged for his life, when he was tied to a tree and left there alone while the thieves started on towards Engel station on the A. T. & S. F. with their booty. The henchmen were able after awhile to free himself and immediately notified the officers who put off in pursuit. The road agents made their way leisurely, and were overtaken and killed by a sheriff's posse.

Capt. John H. Mills, the active mining man of Socorro, is in the city visiting his brother Col. T. B. Mills. He will remain here till Tuesday when he leaves for Tucson to visit his brother Dr. T. C. Mills at Altar, Sonora. The doctor is one of the best known Americans in that Mexican State, having been identified with the mining industry there for nineteen years.

Remarkable Tramp.

Everything that is mean is usually ascribed to the tramp. But there is a great unknown, who is wandering the Lord only knows where, who partly redeems his class from the opprobrium heaped upon it. Yesterday a car load of canned goods and groceries was received at the Depot Hotel from Kansas City. In checking off the invoice, B. F. Wood, the store-keeper of the hotel, found a box of canned peaches broken open. The box was one can short of the quota, but carefully packed in among the cans was a neatly folded note. On opening it a silver quarter dropped out, and Mr. Wood found the following message: "Emptied by a tramp." This case is quite remarkable and it is probably the only instance of a tramp's paying for anything he wasn't forced to "give up" for. The note should be preserved as a curiosity.

A Nice Cook.

The Depot Hotel is short one dining room boy, who is now waiting in the calaboose for trial for assault. Yesterday afternoon Sherman Irwin, a quiet colored boy who arrived from Kansas only a few days ago went to his room in the servant's quarters to rest. He lay down on the bed with his boots on when his room mate Bill Johnson remonstrated. He proceeded to lecture Sherman on his breach of good behavior, and told him that no boy could lie down on his bed with his boots on. Sherman dismissed this as a spasm of cleanliness and did not change his position, whereupon Johnson snatched up a heavy crockery pitcher and let fly at his room mate. A big gash was cut over Irwin's eye and his face badly disfigured. Johnson was arrested by officer Franklin and locked up for trial.

It is generally known that the Denver & Rio Grande company are busily engaged in laying a third rail between this city and Pueblo, but it is not generally known how the broad gauge part of this line is to be operated. Rumor has it that the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe will run their trains direct into Denver. The Tribune is informed that this will not be the case. The Denver & Rio Grande people will purchase their own broad gauge engines, and operate their own road. This will haul the Atchison & Topeka sleepers, and their freight cars also, to and from Denver. —Denver Tribune.

Many of the gas consumers are unacquainted with the proper parties to whom they are to apply for information respecting gas or matters pertaining thereto. The company are soon to publish rules and regulations governing the applications for gas, the tapping of mains, the attaching of service pipe and the piping of buildings. Meantime such information as is desired can be obtained of the secretary, Adin H. Whitmore, office in the Lockhart building, or the superintendent, M. S. Hart, office at the gas works. Both offices are connected by telephone with the central office of the Telephone company.
